ATTN: Greg Drillock, CIO

Hi Greg,

Your VP of AI Transformation role at Freepoint Commodities is an exact fit for my experience. Recently I have focused on helping executive teams translate emerging AI capabilities into practical, production-ready systems that deliver measurable business outcomes. My foundation is in commodities trading technology, with over 20 years integrating and implementing enterprise platforms across agriculture, commodities, and logistics workflows. I bring technical and business expertise in risk management, operations, hedging, logistics, and settlement.

I'm leading AI initiatives from discovery through pilot to production, integrating agents and LLM orchestrations that can serve as force multipliers for operational efficiency and revenue generation. I've led predictive modeling engineering teams that delivered freight operational efficiency improvements and showed measurable improvements in netbacks for chemical commodity traders. I've built my career on earning credibility with risk, trading, and logistics. I thrive on delivering outcomes that business stakeholders can measure and trust.

I'd welcome the opportunity to discuss how my experience in trading systems, risk workflows, and pragmatic AI adoption aligns with what you're building at Freepoint. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mara Jorgensen
